In 1937, Moreland's of Gloucester adapted this Seven for a midget for advertising purposes, using an earlier-model chassis and small wheels on which to mount a remarkably well-proportioned body.

Buy, Sell & Exchange

As a recent widower I'm presently downsizing to a much smaller home and garaging space is very limited.

Discovered a decade or so ago as a true "Boys-Own" barn-find in the Barossa Valley- it was very complete, just covered in dust and cobwebs! I've done a total stripped chassis, nuts and bolts restoration and was really enjoying the challenge until I got seduced by a little boat-tailed 1924 French Amilcar from just a pile of parts. That has been a big job taking all of my energy!

I hate to be a quitter but, in my 80's there is not much time left, so I've come to the reluctant realisation that she should go to someone who would love to have a car approaching 100 years old.

It was going to be back to her original colour of Green body with Black mudguards but it would be better to let a new owner choose his own preferred colour scheme. The engine was professionally rebuilt under my friend Dave Armstrong's supervision and I've been lucky to find new-old stock instruments in NZ. I am a long-term member of the Austin-7 Club in Victoria and also here in Adelaide (I previously restored a 1937 Roadster in my youth in Melbourne under my Dad's expert supervision...drove her to Adelaide in 1960 and then owned by my brother before apparently ending up with Wolf Blass's wife!)

There's only the final paint job, upholstery & low tension wiring to do (Wolf Semmler converted the generator to 12volt). The radiator shell, windscreen uprights and frame have been re-chromed- not yet glazed. The original hood-bows are with the car/ spare cylinder head/ all new Blockley tyres/Original upholstery retained as patterns.

Reasonable offers will be considered after inspection.
